

Charleston Welcomes the Wyckoffs

Charleston, one of the country's most historic and beautiful cities, welcomes Wyckoff "cousins" and friends from around the country for the Wyckoff House & Association's 69th Annual Meeting and Reunion.

Wyckoff Board member Patricia Lilly, who retired from Brooklyn to her hometown of Charleston in 2003, has planned a fun-filled weekend with dinner on Friday at one of Charleston's best restaurants in the heart of the Historic District.

Based on a poll of attendees at last year's Reunion, the Association chose a hotel as close to the Historic District as possible, while keeping room rates at a reasonable level. This new hotel has many amenities, including a pool and restaurant overlooking the scenic Ashley River. Our meeting room has windows overlooking the city.

There is so much to do and see in Charleston that we encourage you to extend your stay over this Columbus Day weekend. There is a short list of events and sights on the back of the brochure.

Welcome Y'all!
